

AGED WRITER DIES

MISS ANNIE H. LEWIS, IN FEEBLE HEALTH, TAKES OWN LIFE AT HOME HERE

Miss Annie H. Lewis, a venerable New England woman, nearly 70 years of age, died by her own hand at her home in an apartment, 745 East Wilson avenue, Glendale, some time Wednesday. The hour of death had not been definitely established, but, according to friends, they presume it was within the last 48 hours.

The Jewel City Undertaking Co. has taken charge of the body and the coroner will hold a formal inquest some time late today. Discovery of the sad death was made by Miss Margaret Cross, who resides in an adjoining apartment.

Miss Lewis was a kindly person with many friends yet none of whom she took into her confidence. Like many New Englanders, she lived a life unto herself, yet marked her deeds with kindness and charity. She had comfortable means and the only known reason for her wishing death was the feebleness of years which she keenly felt.

In days gone by, Miss Lewis wrote many magazine stories under nom de plumes. She had resided in Glendale for two years past and two months at the address where she died. Previous to coming to Glendale, she lived at Hermosa Beach. Most of her life was spent in Boston, Maine being her birthplace.

Miss Kate Lewis, a cousin residing at Hermosa Beach, was notified and she is now in the city completing funeral arrangements. Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Quimby, of South Pasadena, friends of the deceased, are also here. Other known relatives left to mourn her death are nieces, Mrs. Harold Hendrickson of Frisco, Utah, and Miss Katherine Lewis, Salt Lake City, Utah.

SPRING SERVICE FLAG

GARDENERS SAY IT IS TIME TO SOW AND PLANT TREES, SHRUBS AND FLOWERS

Spring has begun to hang out her service floral flags to advertise that the planting season is near. Blue Lupin are blooming in the waste places and the little "Footprints of Spring" are showing their yellow cups. Freeman Kelley, of the Glendale Floral Co., says if anyone is planning to set trees or shrubs of deciduous varieties, now is the time to get busy. They are still dormant enough to stand the transfer well and soil and moisture conditions are more favorable to the operation than any other season of the year. This is especially true of roses.

It is also time to stock up with garden seeds and make plain the path of the pea and of all root crops such as onions, carrots, radishes, salify, beets and the like. Spinach, lettuce, Swiss chard can be sown with profit now, and some gardeners are putting in that hardy Lima bean, "The Monstrous." Potatoes should also go into the ground now, i. e., the Irish potato. It is too cool for the sweet potato, and for the tomato.

It is also the time to plant lily bulbs, sweet peas, to sow the flower garden and plant the parkway. In other words, it is a good working time for man and nature when weather conditions are cool and the moisture right for good germination and growth.

The preliminaries in the renovation of the shop of the firm above referred to are going forward. A brand new awning has just been placed across the front, an attractive color scheme has been carried out with green and white paint, and two extensions of the building have provided quarters which will soon be ready for use for seed, storage and workroom. Some time next week there will be a formal opening. It has always attracted visitors and it will be doubly alluring when the entire shop is used for floral display as it soon will be.

Mrs. Blake Franklin, president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the First Congregational Church, entertained her Executive Board at a delightful luncheon Wednesday when plans for the coming year's work were discussed. Covers were laid at the daintily-appointed table for Mrs. G. F. Colson, vice-president; Mrs. J. Bellue, secretary; Mrs. A. H. Chapman, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Bullinger, Mrs. King, Mrs. Miner, Mrs. George Adams, Mrs. H. W. Yarrick, Mrs. P. V. Potter, department chairmen.

The afternoon was spent in discussing the business affairs of the organization and planning for its greater efficiency for the coming year.

White announces that the School Trustees have decided to make the first half-year's work in the grammar and primary schools end February 28th, and to begin the new term on the following Monday, March 3d. TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

DEMONSTRATION IN USE OF STATE MANUAL ON PHYSICAL TRAINING FRIDAY

The all-day demonstration in physical training which will take place in Glendale Friday, will assume the proportions of a teachers' institute. By way of explanation Superintendent White states that at the last session of the legislature two years ago a law was passed requiring every child in the public schools to have daily, twenty minutes of physical training. A state supervisor of such work was appointed, and subsequently the supervisor issued a manual of physical training for the use of the schools.

Friday morning and afternoon Prof. J. B. Nash, assistant state supervisor of physical training, will be here for the purpose of demonstrating before the teachers of the district the use of the physical training manual. He is spending a week in this county in similar demonstrations. Monday he was in South Pasadena, Tuesday Alhambra, Wednesday Inglewood, today at Whittier. All the teachers in Glendale and surrounding centers will be present, their schools being dismissed for the day. This will mean in addition to the instructors of our own city the teachers of Burbank, La Crescenta, Eagle Rock, Glorietta, La Canada and Monte Vista.

The morning will be given to work in the first four grades which will be demonstrated on the grounds of the Colorado Street School with pupils of that school.

The afternoon demonstration will take place on the grounds of the Intermediate School, selected pupils from the seventh grade taking part.

O. E. S. LUNCHEON

MRS. DANIEL CAMPBELL ENTERTAINS FOR GRAND OFFICERS WITH BIG FUNCTION

In spite of a constant round of functions at which she is a guest of honor and many lodge meetings at which she is called upon to officiate as Grand Chaplain of the O. E. S. in California, Mrs. Daniel Campbell still finds time for an occasional large and elaborate social affair. Such was the three-course mid-day luncheon which she gave last Friday at her beautiful home, Ard Evvin, on Highland avenue, North Glendale. Mrs. Elizabeth M. Marshall, Grand Matron of the State of California, was the special guest of honor and was the more welcome because for more than twenty years she and Mr. Campbell, husband of the hostess, have been friends. Other distinguished guests were: Worthy Grand Marshal of the United States, Mrs. Wheeler; Grand Conductress, Mrs. Sibley; Mrs. Pierce, wife of the Grand Patron of California, and his daughter, Mrs. Amos; Past Grand Matron of California, Mrs. Stannard; seven District Deputy Grand Matrons from towns round about; twenty-one Matrons of City Chapters in Los Angeles; also Matrons from Hollywood, Van Nuys, Eagle Rock, Puente, Montebello, Pasadena and Glendale. The District Deputy from Redlands who was invited was unable to be present and the Matron from the Alhambra Chapter was also prevented from coming.

The guests were assembled around three tables spread in the dining room of the hostess and they were exceedingly attractive in all their appointments. Eastern Star colors featured the floral decorations and for each guest was a beautiful hand-painted, star-shaped, place card in appropriate colors.

The hostess was assisted in receiving and entertaining by her aunt, Mrs. Milford of Los Angeles, who is a member of a Chapter in that city.

Following the luncheon a musical and social afternoon was enjoyed at which Mrs. Seymour Thompson of Beverly Hills contributed violin numbers, and Mrs. Roy Masters of Glendale, piano selections.

WEATHER FORECAST: Fair tonight and Friday. Light to heavy frost in the interior.

FIRST GENERAL INDUSTRIAL STRIKE

SEATTLE, WASHINGTON SUFFERING FROM ALMOST COMPLETE TIE-UP OF ALL LOCAL INDUSTRIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 6.—The first general industrial strike in the history of the United States opened here promptly at 10 a. m. today.

At that hour seventy thousand men walked out, leaving practically every industry, except the newspapers, at a standstill.

Street cars, jitney busses, restaurants and many other utilities were tied up. Although the electric light and power stations had been threatened with a shut-down, at noon they were still operating.

Milk was distributed only in sufficient quantities to supply hospitals and children.

The unions are opening fifteen public eating houses for the benefit of strikers and the general public. Most of the restaurants closed before the hour of the strike.

Mayor Harson repeated his warnings that he is ready to call out ten thousand extra policemen to maintain order. It was reported that troops from Camp Lewis, from the University of Washington Training School and from the Bremerton Navy Yard are ready to come to Seattle, if needed.

The strike committee made a statement warning against violence and said the strikers would maintain their own police.

At daybreak it was evident that the strike could not be averted. The Carmen's Union was the last to join, voting to strike during the morning hours.

The strike has been called in sympathy with 30,000 union ship yard workers who struck a week ago.

"The Daily Union," the official labor paper, made a statement to the United Press, saying that the strike is the last resort "to break down the autocracy of General Manager Piez of the Emergency Fleet Corporation" when the effort was made to settle the ship yard troubles as a local matter. The statement declared that Piez had refused to permit employers and employees to begin negotiations, although the so-called Macey wage scale, to which the men object, was established by the government for use when a local settlement could not be reached. The statement declared that the strike is not revolutionary, although "if an agreement is not reached soon, it has revolutionary possibilities."

REVENUE BILL READY

CALLS FOR SIX BILLIONS FOR THIS YEAR AND FOUR BILLIONS FOR NEXT YEAR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Feb. 6.—Sherman Kitchin of the House ways and means committee today presented to the House the conference report on the war revenue bill. He said the bill was designed to raise six billion dollars during the year ending July 1, 1919, and four billions during the succeeding year. The income and luxury tax provisions are the heaviest.

Senator Lodge, Republican leader, has publicly declared here that "the bill imperils business," indicating his opposition.

Representative Kitchin announced that he will ask for action on Saturday in the House, and that the Senate probably will act next week.

Secretary of the Treasury Glass announced that he will not allow any extension of the time for filing income tax returns under the new law, and that returns on the first installment of income taxes must be paid by March 15.

MORE TRANSPORTATION TIED UP IN LONDON BY STRIKES OF ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

London, Feb. 6.—Traffic today on the London-Brighton Railway was halted by a strike of the Engineers' Union in sympathy with subway employees. A general steam railway tie-up is threatened at noon by a strike of engineers and firemen of the London Southwestern Railway.

WHO HAS CART FOR A SICK BABY?

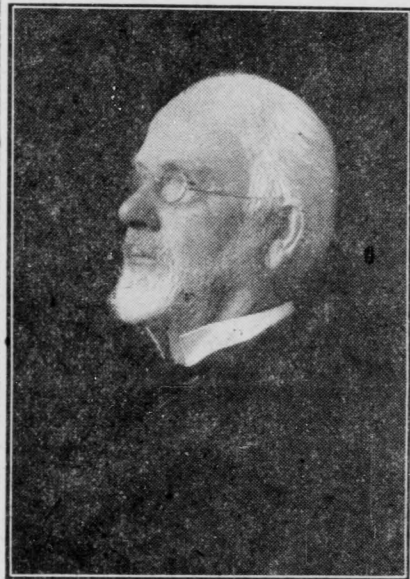

Tender-hearted Glendalians are advised that a baby cart is wanted for a sick baby in this city. It can be left at the Central Market on Brand boulevard, or if the donor will telephone Mrs. McKee, Chairman of the Associated Charities, calling Glendale 377, she will send for it. There must be many such carts not in use and no infant should be allowed to suffer for the lack.

TO TOUR STATE

PASTOR J. O. CORLISS GOES NORTH IN INTEREST OF RELIGIOUS LIBERTY

Pastor J. O. Corliss, who has been a resident in Glendale for a number of years, and is well known in the community, is leaving tomorrow morning for a two-weeks' tour of Central and Northern California in the interests of religious liberty.

Since the Sunday closing bill was introduced in the Sacramento Legislature, Mr. Corliss has been giving considerable study to how it will work out if it is enacted. He believes that even those who now favor it, will be sadly disappointed if the bill is passed and becomes operative, and that many who now champion the Sunday law, will turn against it later. He thinks, however, that if the law is once placed upon the statute books it will not be an easy matter to have it repealed.

Mr. Corliss accords to all the right to worship and rest as they choose, and on any day they please, but thinks these matters ought not to be regulated by law. Before returning to Glendale he will hold meetings at Bakersfield, Hanford and Visalia provided influenza conditions permit.

ELECTRICAL SHOCK

MRS. D. W. ROOT BURNED AND BLINDED BY STORM OF FRIDAY NIGHT

The friends of Mrs. W. D. Root of South Verdugo Road will be glad to learn that she is slowly recovering from a severe electrical shock sustained in the storm of last Friday night. She was in the act of closing a window when the hard bolt came. It completely blinded her for two or three hours and also burned the fingers of one hand, going through her whole system with a serious effect on her nerves. The two physicians who were called say she had a close call and had she been more fully exposed to the elements the shock would have been still more serious. There was no damage to the house.

MUSIC SECTION MEETING

The Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. W. Ramsay, president of the club, on Adams street. French opera will be the theme of the afternoon and there will be papers and illustration numbers. Mrs. Fawcett, of Pasadena, a pupil of Madame Catherine Shank, will be a guest and will sing arias from Romeo and Juliet.

HIKING INTO GERMANY

CORP. FRANK LITTELL DESCRIBES MARCH ACROSS BORDER THROUGH LUXEMBURG

The following fine descriptive letter telling of the entrance into Sedan by the American doughboys and of their further progress into Germany has been given the Evening News by Mrs. James Graham of 200 Dryden street. It was written December 16th by her son, Corporal Frank Littell, who was enlisted in Co. F, 107th Reg. Eng., and who participated in the dangers and honors of the famous Rainbow Division. At a date subsequent to this letter he suffered from pleurisy and was taken to the nearest base hospital and afterwards transferred to the hospital where he now is, No. 26, at Vittel. The hospital is now quarantined for mumps, as he explains in a more recent letter which his mother has received, and he does not know just when he will be released, but when that does happen he does not expect to be sent back to his division, but instead to be returned home as a casual.

"Dear Folks:—Rid of the pesky cooties at last, so perhaps I will be able to concentrate my mind on something else. "For days and days we have been hiking over this blasted Europe wearing out hobnails by the score and have suffered miserably for lack of mail. It has been weeks since I opened a letter from home. "The grand finale of this thing (Continued on Page 4)

SALVAGE RETURNS

L. T. Rowley, at the head of the salvage department for the Glendale Red Cross Chapter, states that the receipts for January fell only a trifle short of $150. There is a good market for paper now and collections will be continued with even greater zeal than ever. A load was taken to Los Angeles Tuesday which netted about $20.

SUPERFLUOUS FUNDS

CENTRAL SCHOOL COMMITTEE CONSIDERS DISPOSITION OF JUNIOR R. C. MONEY

A meeting of the teaching force of the Glendale schools and particularly of the Central School Committee, was held Wednesday afternoon at the Intermediate School, with Superintendent White presiding as chairman.

The special subject for consideration was the disposition of funds in the treasury of the Junior Red Cross. Reports showed a balance of $424.70 January 31st. A motion to place the fund in the custody of Miss Ethel Flood of the Union High School was unanimously carried. At the same time a committee was appointed consisting of Misses Jackson, Cornwell and Waite to investigate conditions and cost of adopting ten war orphans of France or Belgium and to ascertain whether Junior Red Cross funds can be used for such purpose.

It was also decided that the collection of membership dues in the Junior Red Cross shall be discontinued for the present, inasmuch as its work has been taken over by the senior organization.

A committee was also appointed to collect data for the State Red Cross history which is to be compiled, Mr. Harwood, principal of the Cerritos School; Miss McIntyre, principal of the Central Avenue School, and Mrs. Ryan, principal of the Broadway School, were named on that committee and announced that they would greatly appreciate any newspaper clippings or pictures furnished, them which would show the work of the Junior organization in Glendale.

SHOE PROSPECTS

David Carney, the shoe merchant, says there is no relief in sight for shoe buyers as far as price is concerned. Heavy substantial shoes are relatively cheaper than the more dressy goods, however, and values on those are about the same as last year, but the lighter weight shoes for dress wear are scarce and high. The government fixed a limit of $12 a pair, so they will not exceed that figure unless the price fixing ban is removed. In general, they will average from $5.50 to $9. Never before have shoe stocks in the hands of manufacturers been so low, he says, and inasmuch as orders from dealers are placed a long time ahead and it takes many months to turn out a season's stock, no change in the situation can be expected at present. Fortunately spring and summer are not very far distant and low shoes can be had as low as $4.50.

KEEP AIRPLANES FLYING

The plans of the navy for the development of an aerial coastal defense service, including the completion of the scheme for the establishment of a series of aviation stations along the waterline of the country, deserve the encouraging consideration of Congress, as do whatever plans the post office department has for the expansion of its air service. Both army and navy have reached what appears to be an effective beginning in the development of the aerial branch, a sufficient corps of aviators has been trained, and it would be a serious mistake to scrap the plan, or even to allow it to rust out in disuse.

We went through the war without a department of aviation in the government organization, but the lack of it was accountable for the nearest approach to failure which the United States made in its entire war effort, and the lesson ought to be appreciated. Three distinct and separate services—army, navy and postal—each occupying a subordinate and minor place in the general policy of the various departments, are not likely to be as effective, or to command as much consideration from Congress and the nation at large as a single department concentrating its attention on the problems of aviation and serving all three of these services. The United States, which claims the honor of invention of aircraft, ought not to be second to any other nation in its exploitation.

THE LAST DRIVE

The coming Victory Liberty Loan will be the last. One more big job to pay for the victory—or the immediate demands of victory—and Liberty Loans will be history.

There must be no lagging by the American people in the drive that comes in April. It will not be a time for excuses.

The same spirit that characterized the last hour of fighting before the armistice went into effect should be shown by the stay-at-homes for whom the Yanks fought in France.

Here is the official report of operations in those last few hours of the war:

"The Third Division advanced three kilometers east of Bhecheville. Despite increased resistance by machine gun and artillery fire, the Fifth Division continued to advance, capturing 18 prisoners, three large calibre guns, six minenwerfers and considerable material. In accordance with the terms of the armistice, hostilities on the front of the American armies ceased at 11 a. m."

The Yanks didn't shirk that last job. Many gave their lives with peace a matter of minutes away. Every American at home worth the victory won by those boys in khaki will work as hard in the coming loan as in the first.

THE PART OF THE UNITED STATES

There is in the recent report of General Peyton C. March, chief of staff of the United States Army, giving the strength of the armies of the different nations on the side of the Allies on the western front, at the time of the signing of the armistice, a crushing reply to the prediction, whether emanating from German or from other sources, that the United States would fail to give effective support to the Allies before the close of the war. It may be recalled that there were, at home, many who, up to the spring of 1918, declared that because of American unpreparedness for the conflict, the unreadiness of training camps, the lack of adequate transportation facilities, and innumerable other drawbacks, real or fancied, the United States would fail to make a relatively creditable military showing in France and Belgium.

It may be recalled also that the German government officials, the German military commanders, and the German press, as late as the beginning of the summer of 1918, scoffed at the idea that the United States would, or could, ever become an important factor in the war. At the utmost, the German military experts would grant no more than that in the course of time the United States might be able to place 600,000 men in the field, and that this feat could not be achieved until too late.

Now, the official figures, as reported by General March, show that when the armistice was signed France was represented at the front by 2,559,000 men, the United States by 1,950,000 men, and the United Kingdom by 1,718,000 men, this figure including Portuguese. In his statement General March says that the figures given show the "ration strength," meaning that they include every man that had to be fed, combatant, non-combatant, medical service men, supply men, and so on.

There is here, of course, no basis for estimates or conclusions with regard to the relative forces placed on the western front or any other line from the beginning of the war. Nothing is said relative to losses. The United States was a late comer into the war, and an analysis of the relative military contribution of all the nations on the Allies' side would have to be very far-reaching and exact in order to avoid doing injustice in any particular.

The great fact brought out in General March's report is that between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, the United States, a peaceable and non-military democracy, was able to place at the most important front of the greatest of wars a force of nearly 2,000,000 men. And behind this, clearly discernable, is the other magnificent fact that the sudden ending of the war alone prevented the United States from doubling the force within a few months.—C. S. Monitor.

'income tax experts,' who offer to relieve the busy taxpayer from all worries about his tax responsibilities.

"Taxpayers should not allow themselves to be imposed upon by strangers who claim to be income tax experts. They should discriminate carefully between really helpful, authoritative advice in tax matters and the irresponsible brand peddled under glittering pretenses.

"The bureau is arranging to furnish, for the benefit of taxpayers in every city and town in the country, a free advisory service by trained collectors, agents, inspectors and deputies. At the offices of collectors and their deputies, and at other central points, free information and advice with respect to filing returns under the new revenue bill may be had up to the final date for filing such returns.

"Banks, trust companies and similar responsible institutions have always co-operated in furnishing authentic income tax information, and have generously offered to serve the government and taxpayers in this respect again this year.

"It is the aim of the bureau to bring its agencies as close as possible to every person and to make available in official form all necessary information regarding the requirements of the law. The bureau welcomes aid from every responsible agency in its effort to enlighten the people on tax matters.

"Every taxpayer is assured of a square deal from the government, based entirely on the tax laws and regulations and the facts in his case. No other influence is allowed to enter into internal revenue matters, and the statement of any firm or individual that they are in a position to exert special influence with internal revenue officers is wholly without foundation in fact. Painstaking and open-minded consideration is given in every case, regardless of whether the taxpayer appears in person or by attorney.

"Firms or persons who offer to prosecute claims against the government can secure no special consideration beyond the merits of the claims as determined by the facts and the law."

NATION'S WEALTH ENORMOUS

Uncle Sam has become the world's greatest captain of industry. Here are the figures.

We have 6 per cent of the world's population.
We own 7 per cent of the world's land.
But we produce 70 per cent of the world's copper.
We produce 66 per cent of the world's oil.
We raise 60 per cent of all cotton raised.
We produce 33 per cent of the world's silver.
We dig 52 per cent of all coal used.
We mine 40 per cent of iron and steel, 20 per cent of the world's gold.

We manufacture 85 per cent of all motor cars manufactured, and operate 40 per cent of the world's railroads.
We grow 25 per cent of the world's wheat.

Before the war England was, on the surface, the richest nation in the world. At that time the United States owed four billion dollars to Europe.

Now Europe owes the United States ten billion dollars.
In two years we shall have passed England as a shipbuilder.

All we have to do to go to the wall is to become a junker nation, with no other than material ambitions. He whom the gods would destroy they first make mad.

But let's not do that. Let's be sensible and decent and thankful that we are so fortunately situated. And let's try to make the best use of our combined wealth so that everybody will be prosperous and educated and comfortable and happy.

CHILDREN SERVED

Two hundred and fifty children are being trained in farming, horticulture, poultry, hog and sheep raising at the Salvation Army Industrial Home for Boys and Girls at Lytton, Sonoma county. Girls receive instruction in sewing, cooking, laundry work and general housework. These children are being reclaimed to become good citizens.

In the industrial homes operated by the Salvation Army in San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Jose, Sacramento, Oakland and San Diego over 100,000 meals and 36,000 beds have been supplied free or for service during the last year. Service is the religion of the Salvation Army.

In jails and penitentiaries in California the Salvation Army during 1918 conducted 12,382 meetings with an attendance of 627,800. The records show that 4923 discharged prisoners were helped last year with either positions, tools, beds, meals, clothing or transportation.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Willisford and daughter, Joy, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Button and daughter, Rosemary, were dinner guests Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hyde Braly on Brand Boulevard.

Mrs. George Rowe of 216 South Orange street will be hostess at the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. Friday afternoon, February 7th, at 2:30 o'clock. A short program will be conducted by Mrs. Mottern and sewing will be done on overseas relief work.

This was a big day at the First Methodist Church of Glendale as the three women's societies met in forenoon and afternoon sessions with a luncheon between served in the banquet hall of the church at which a number of outside guests were present. It was quite a social function.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wagon of this city have as their guest, Mrs. Wagon's sister, Miss Beulah Gallagher, of Denver, Colorado. Miss Gallagher spent the holidays with her parents in Oklahoma City and has now come to Glendale to spend several months. She is delighted with California as represented by this part of the State.

Miss Margaret Lusby will be hostess Saturday evening at a little party which she is giving at the home of her parents on North Jackson street for the members of the Sunday School class of which she is the teacher. Nearly all of them are members of the Freshman class in Glendale Union High who immensely appreciate the advantage of a young teacher who can so closely sympathize with ideas and feelings. Needless to say she is highly popular as a teacher and her class parties are events. It will be a musical and social evening with refreshments served at the close.

NO LIGHTS; COLLISION FOLLOWS

The foolishness of traveling on a crowded thoroughfare after dark without lights was demonstrated Wednesday night about 6 o'clock when Tom Lingham, who was coming to his home at 201 East Acacia avenue in his automobile, ran into a buggy on which there were no lights but in which were riding a Mexican, his wife and little boy. By swerving to one side a serious collision was averted, but the auto struck and crumpled the front wheel of the buggy. The driver fell out and is said to have broken his leg in the fall. A passenger in the Lingham auto was a white Spitz dog belonging to Mrs. C. M. Barnes of Pioneer Drive. After the accident the dog could not be found and his owner is advertising for her pet. She fears the animal was injured or frightened by the experience.

THE ROWLEY BOYS

Concerning the movements of his two sons who are in service, one with a hospital unit in Italy, the other in the navy, L. T. Rowley states that Eustace, the sailor, is enjoying a 12-day furlough in Glendale. He will have to rejoin his ship, the Marblehead, at San Diego, next Tuesday. Letters from Robert Rowley tell of sad happenings which converted the Christmas they had expected would be such a pleasant festival into a season of mourning. They were invited to join with the men in an aviation division and one of the boys flew to a certain place to make arrangements for the entertainment. In performing some air stunts for the pleasure of the natives he got too near the ground, struck the earth with his car, nearly lost his life, killed a soldier and two children. This naturally cast a cloud on their Christmas rejoicing.

Robert wrote that the Colonel had just announced to them that after they had finished the work they were doing in Italy they would go to France, but he expects the transfer will not take place before March. He is an ambulance driver and is helping to transfer the wounded from the front hospitals, which are more or less emergency affairs, to the base hospitals further back from the battle lines. There are thirty-five men in a section and the sections moved from 1200 to 1400 wounded during the Italian offensive. He recently had a brief furlough in which he visited Venice and will have another on the 14th when he plans to see Rome, Florence and many others that come in his way.

RECEPTION FOR WILLISFORDS

A reception will be tendered Dr. E. H. Willisford, recently returned from the battlefields of France, and Mrs. Willisford, Friday evening, at the First Congregational Church. All the friends are cordially invited. Also all soldiers and sailors now in Glendale will be especially welcome. A short program will be given.

MERIT WINDOWS

LOCAL MANUFACTORY PLANT
TURNED OVER TO PRODUCTION
PATENT WINDOW AND SCREEN

A Glendale manufactory which gives great promise for future development, is that of the Merit Window concern operated in the Glendale Planing Mill of which Mr. C. U. Mandis is proprietor. Merit windows are a new invention which are now embodied in practically all of the higher class of homes.

In demonstrating the Merit window to a representative of the Glendale Evening News, Mr. Mandis showed how the window, as built into the home, carries a detachable screen frame which disappears under the sash on closing the window proper. Likewise, the screen for the upper half of the window slides above the upper sash.

Among some of the homes recently fitted with the Merit windows and screens are those of S. M. Cooper, prominent real estate sub-divisor in Los Angeles, T. Beverly Keim, architect, A. C. Martin, builder, John C. Austin, H. H. Whitely and others.

Mr. Mandis has been a Glendale resident for some time. He has conducted the Glendale Planing Mill successfully and has turned his executive and constructive talent over to the exclusive agency and manufactory of this superior window and screen product.

The windows will be shipped from here to all parts of Southern California. Already the demand for them is such that the planing mill plant will soon be running at full capacity.

GERMAN ASSEMBLY MEETS AT WEIMAR

(By United Press)
WEIMAR, Feb. 6.—The first popular national legislative assembly in the history of Germany is meeting here today to write a constitution for the people of the former German Empire.

The assembly, composed of 421 members, including 34 women, was elected by direct popular vote of the whole people, and is decidedly socialistic in complexion. The membership is divided among the political parties thus:

Majority Socialists	164
Christian People's Party	88
Democrats	77
German National Party	34
Minority Socialists	24
German People's Party	23
Guelphs	4
Bavarian Peasants League	4
Württemberg Bourgeois Party	2
Peasants' and Workmen's Democratic League	1

This gives the majority socialists a plurality, with other socialistic groups so well represented that a constitution that would be called radical in any of the older countries of the world is practically assured.

As for monarchists and anarchists, they are not even thought of by the lawmakers assembled here for the historic founding of a Teutonic democratic republic.

The little city of Weimar, selected for the national assembly when it became evident that Berlin, with its kaiser traditions and its militaristic atmosphere, would not be acceptable to the democratic Germans, is little more than 30,000 in population, and possesses none of the facilities usually thought essential for a national capital. It is the capital of the grand-duchy of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, and is situated on the left bank of the Ilm. It was Goethe's town, and still is permeated by the Goethe atmosphere. Goethe's house, now the Goethe national museum, is one of the show places of the city. Schiller's house also is one of the public assets, and a famous Goethe-Schiller monument adorns the space in front of the theater, which has been turned into a national assembly hall for the present gathering. The two great poets sleep in the same vault in the cemetery.

BATHROOMS ARE BUSY

(By United Press)
PARIS, Jan. 24. (By Mail).—The big rush to Paris with the cramming and jamming of hotels is not without its tragedies. There is, for instance, the matter of baths if you do not happen to be fortunate enough to have a room with bath at your hotel.

Here's one story:
"I'd like a bath at 8 tomorrow morning," said an American as he turned in for the night.

"Oui, Monsieur," countered the night clerk, but the next morning there was no announcement that the bath was ready.

The American took it as a French oversight, but that night asked again.

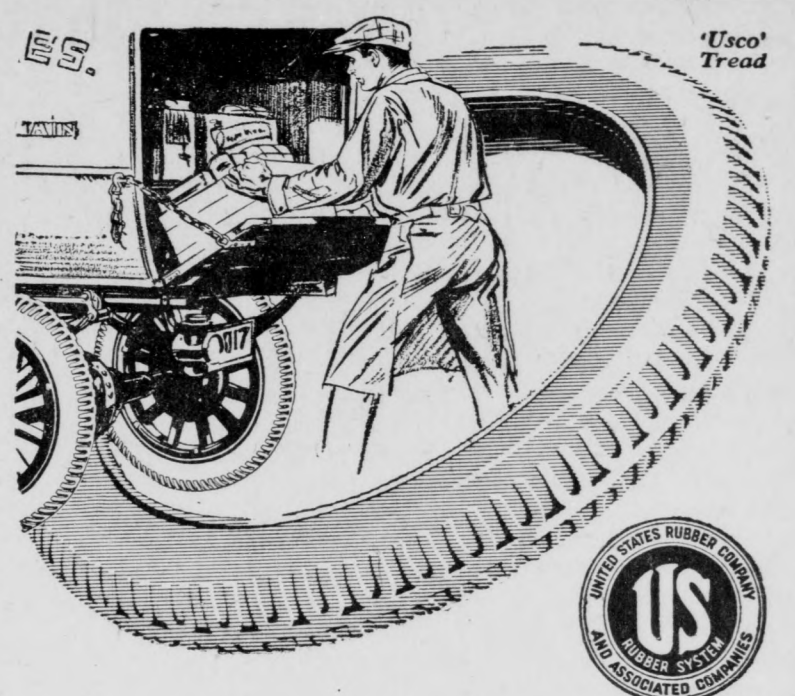

"If you can't remember it for in the morning, I'll take it now," said the American as he had a happy thought.

The man on the desk staggered. He was sorry, but Monsieur couldn't have a bath then.

"Why not?"

"Well, to tell the truth," came the explanation, "a captain has the bathroom engaged as sleeping quarters. Yesterday when you wanted your bath, he wasn't up yet. To-night, I am sorry, but he has just gone to bed. Tomorrow—possibly."

Two days later the American caught the captain out of bed and had his bath.

YANKS LOST HATS IN PARIS

(By United Press)
PARIS, Jan. 24. (By Mail).—On the second night of the celebration in connection with President Wilson's arrival in Paris, there was scarcely an American soldier—office or man—with a hat. The girls, rolling on the boulevards, developed a sudden craze for American hats and caps as souvenirs. They swept down upon Americans, regardless of rank, snatched their hats and sped away, or made them forget the hats under a bombardment of kisses.

There's a rear admiral who is said to have been seen chasing one boulevard beauty two blocks to recover his gold-leaf covered cap. Maybe the rear-admiral would deny it, but anyhow it is said he kissed 25 girls to get the cap back, it being the only one he had.

found the Rainbow Division at the gates of that famous and ancient city, Sedan. We were covered with cooties and felt that Sherman used the meekest of language in regard to war. Our doughboys entered the city with the French and undoubtedly reached a mark further north than any other American unit in the American Army. So when those Germans got it through their ivory domes that nothing in Germany could stop the American doughboys progress, an armistice was the result and the signing of this armistice found us up near Sedan.

"It was surely music to our ears when we heard the armistice was signed. We could fairly feel the water trickling down our back of that long looked for bath which was to rid us of the cooties for good and all, and could even taste those splendid French suppers that we had been dreaming of and talking of for days and the 'enough Zane' seemed a reality at last.

"Then somebody back at General Headquarters in the S. O. S. wrecked our air-castles by insisting that owing to the brilliant record made by the 42d Division, she was entitled to a little bit of honor and should march majestically into Coblenz on the Rhine as one of the divisions of occupation. Personally, I was unable to see the honor connected with a twenty-five days' hike, especially with each soldier supporting an army of cooties, and as I was feeling pretty sick to see the good old U. S. A. Now that it was over 'over here' I suppose that's why I failed to see the honor. However, they shipped up to us from the S. O. S. some thousands of pairs of hobnails and we started for the Rhine with flags and standards waving and bands playing. Across that northern strip of France, long held by the enemy, we hiked day after day. We knocked off 18, 20, 25 kilometers a day, finally one evening we came to the border and rested for the night in an evacuated prison pen. In the morning we crossed over, stepped from France into Belgium. The change was like magic, like stepping from this planet into Mars. The towns looked better, they were closer together and larger. No shell holes or ruins were there to mar the landscape. It was a different land from poor, northern, desolated France. Of course, I am merely speaking about the strip we passed through, a small strip in the eastern part of Belgium. Probably Belgium around Brussels and near the sea has the same pitiful story to tell that France has. However, in every Belgium town we passed through flags and decorations met us. At the entrance of one town that we passed through, some well-meaning villagers had tacked a sign to a tree which read: 'Vive la Allies thank God for President Wilson.'

"A couple of days' hiking took us through Belgium and into the Province of Luxembourg, where we realized another magic change. We began to feel like invaders. The German language was the one spoken by nearly all and the medium of exchange became marks. A man going on guard duty harbored a sneaking feeling that a sand bag or a brick might drop over the garden wall and connect with his head by some twist of fate. But with all of this unsavory atmosphere I shall never forget six days spent in Luxembourg. These were the days before Thanksgiving, and oh what days for eating! We became acquainted with one family in this town. There were seven of us, Doug, Stan, Ed, myself and three others. We ate supper at this house every evening. The food and the way it was prepared was marvelous and aside from that we sat at a real table with real linen, a full set of coarse silver and china and the courses never numbered less than seven and were served with a style that made us marvel. Anything we asked for this lady seemed to have in her pantry and it appeared as by magic, the very best in the land. Her house was of the country type, big, roomy, and well furnished. She appeared to be of French descent while her husband was evidently a Luxemburger. Well, I probably lived too high, not being used to it and when crossing the Lux-German border I developed a case of pleurisy in my side. Given the opportunity to go to the hospital I went. First to the Corps Hospital at Echternach. From E. I was evacuated by ambulance to Treves over the Hogback, a distance of 25 kilometers. At Treves, which is in Germany proper, I entrained on a Red Cross hospital train and came to Vettel by way of Metz.

"Treves is a good-sized city on the Moselle River and it was there I saw the first street cars I had seen in months. The Americans were in the city and everything seemed to be running smoothly. Stores were open and appeared to be well filled. Beer gardens were doing a good business and America seemed to be right at home. Some American wounded prisoners were in my coach and had interesting tales to tell of their lives in Germany. They were at the hospitals at Treves and had no complaints to make about their treatment. They said they were fed fairly well, in fact, even given eggs at times. Some of these prisoners were amputation cases and they praised the skill of German surgery. One of the fellows stated that the German surgeons operated six times before amputating his foot. Still others said that in some cases the German doctors amputated too quickly.

"From my own observation, I do not think Germany is as hard-pressed for food as she makes out. The poor may be hungry, but the middle class and the rich have sufficient. It is disgusting to look at their unharned country with its almost normal cities and contrast it with poor, shell-torn, northern France.

"We met a trainload of Tommies at Metz, who were just returning from the prison camp, Starrbuck. The poor, old Tommy prisoners were the ones who lived a hell on earth in the German prison camps. Nothing was too bad for them.

"Affectionately,

"FRANK."

TUJUNGA

Mr. Loyd of Eagle Rock, who has for some time owned property on Cedar street, south, will build a home here at once. Mr. Hough is the building contractor.

Mr. Harrison Hall and family have returned to their home here after several months at Berkeley and will remain until April.

Miss Newton, of the Alexandria, is resting at the Johnson cottage, after a siege of the "flu."

Last week's papers contained a notice of the death of "Prof. David White," who formerly lived here, on the corner of Summit and San Ysidro. He was an unique character, and well versed along many lines of thought, especially along dietetics and character reading. He moved from here last summer and at the time of his death resided near Bairdstown.

Mrs. Donaldson and daughter, Josie, who occupied the Brissenden home, have moved to Burbank.

The property of J. H. Shiras was sold this week to Mr. Taylor, of Los Angeles, by Dean & Co. Mr. Taylor and wife will put the place in order and reside there.

A dastardly robbery was perpetrated on Monday night by thieves breaking into the feed store of G. F. Fisher on Michigan Highway, and removing eleven cases of eggs. The building was securely locked, but nothing daunted they broke open the lock and helped themselves, aside from the eggs—a box of Crisco and some bags of grain helped swell the loot. Then finding the gasoline tank unlocked they helped themselves to about nine gallons of that. Mr. Fisher notified the sheriff at once, but being only a small community the matter was not looked into until the marks of the truck and foot-prints were obliterated. We are now wondering what the sheriff and his deputies are for? We help pay their salaries, but can get no attention when we need it. Last summer a truck drove up and carried off all the furniture in a house, but nothing was done, just looked over and said, "No clue." It is time we woke up and appointed a vigilance committee, and looked after these midnight marauders. Mr. Fisher's loss as far as he knows will run over $200.

Charles Frey of Los Angeles was a caller on Wednesday and expects to return Sunday again for a few days.

Mr. Church of the Wells Ranch is again at home, but not very well from his severe illness.

Mrs. Ward, of San Ysidro Road, will have an all-day sewing bee next week to make garments for the Los Angeles Parent-Teachers' Association.

Mrs. Colburn and Mrs. McCue are on the sick list for the week.

A glorious rain gave us over an inch of rain and a light covering of snow on the tops of the mountains last week.

Mrs. Wilson and two children, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Ludke the past month, returned to her home at Coos Bay on Wednesday.

STATE NEWS

(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—California hop growers are not disconcerted by prohibition. Hops which sold for 15 cents a pound while America was making beer are now bringing 30 and 35 cents for foreign markets. The Durst ranch at Wheatland, scene of the hop-field riots a few years ago, is now putting in 100 acres more of hops. The Durst people, like many other Sacramento valley ranchers, started to tear out their hop vines a year ago.

SACRAMENTO.—In a bill already introduced in the legislature provisions are made for persons who have lost both hands to aid them in stamping their ballots on election days. The bill provides that the person with such an infirmity may nominate the person to accompany him to the booth and stamp his ballot.

SACRAMENTO.—A bill has been introduced in the legislature for the appropriation of $6000 with which to send a scientist to Southern Europe and Africa for the purpose of obtaining several thousand pseudococcus Citri, P-etc. bakeri and P-ets, Citrophilus. In the bill these are called in somewhat simpler language "parasitic and predaceous" fighters of citrus pests.

SACRAMENTO.—Mrs. Anna L.

Saylor, Berkeley assemblywoman, has introduced a bill for the establishment and maintenance of a bureau of child hygiene under the direction of the State Board of Health.

MARYSVILLE, Cal.—Misses Mabel and Nita Chittendon, daughters of a prominent Glenn county farmer, are in receipt of a check for $2,000 as a result of their efforts at turkey raising. The young women raised 409 turkeys which they sold during the holidays and they are now reaping the harvest of their efforts.

SEATTLE, Wash. — Forty thousand union workers laid down their tools at ten o'clock this morning in sympathy with the 35,000 shipyard workers who are in strike here for higher pay. Seattle closed shop. Despite Mayor Ole Hanson's repeated assertions that "the seat of government is still at the city hall," the strikers have formed a division of law and order which will co-operate with the police in maintaining order. The strike gives appearances of being an orderly one.

AN OFFICIAL TEST

The experiments made at Goat Island by Navy doctors in an effort to learn something about the influenza germ, carry a lesson that every person should study and understand.

Fifty young sailors volunteered to become influenza victims that the doctors might study the disease more carefully. These young men had no fear of the disease; they willingly offered themselves. They were placed with flu patients; they were given jars of flu germs which they breathed into their lungs; they had flu germs injected into their bodies. Then the medical men prepared to study the cases as they developed.

But no cases developed among these fifty sailors!

These men had been inoculated; they had been exposed to the disease in every manner; they had breathed in the germs and eaten and slept with flu victims, and not one of them became infected!

The medical men confessed themselves baffled. All their ideas of the disease were turned topsy-turvy. The bunk about the masks was again exposed; and it was shown that the disease was not communicable, not contagious. The doctors are still wondering. The explanation, however, is simplicity itself, for it was proved by each of these fifty young men.

These fifty young men volunteered to act as subjects upon which to be experimented. This showed clearly that they did not fear the disease. In other words, they could not acquire what they did not fear. Since their fear of the disease was gone, the disease was absolutely non-existent, even though every effort was made to force it on them.

There can be no clearer nor better proof of the oft stated and rapidly being accepted fact that mind controls matter. Medical men are now acknowledging this condition. They are the first to tell patients to eliminate fear. When this is done, their work is done. There would be no cases of influenza if every person in the State would do as these fifty Goat Island sailors did; namely, eliminate fear of the disease.—Oakland Enquirer.

JAPAN PLANS PACIFIC FLEET

(By United Press)
TOKYO, Jan. 18. (By Mail).—The Imperial Japanese Navy plans to control the China sea and parts of the Pacific, Indian Ocean and South Seas. The United States will not be the only power with a great Pacific fleet, if the published statement of Captain Hidaka of the Staff of the Japanese Navy means anything.

Asserting that Japan must control those waters, Capt. Hidaka declares the reason is that otherwise Japan might find herself unable to import necessary munitions of war.

"In short," he says, "the navy will be called upon to insure the safety of trade and the preservation of the defensive strength of the army and navy by keeping open the seas for the import of necessary materials."

Owing to the insular condition of Japan, he says, "It will naturally follow that the defense of the country should mainly be undertaken by the navy."

The captain gives assurance, however, that Japan will seek to maintain defensive rather than offensive strength.

"Japan can hardly be persuaded to follow the example of nations that organize their navies on the principle of offensive strength," he declares, "simply because of the enormous expenditures of money involved in the maintenance of such bloated naval armament."

STANDARD OIL MAN SAYS GAS IS RUNNING SHORT

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A world shortage of gasoline waits just around the corner for the motor-propelled world, according to Mark L. Requa, Standard Oil official, who has been directing the oil division activities of the fuel administration.

The only preventive, Requa believes, is an engine that will burn crude oil.

The American Society of Automotive Engineers, in session here today, is considering this problem, put up to it by Requa and his associates. J. E. Pogue, who has been devoting his attention, for the government, to oil conservation, is scheduled to tell the engineers that but 50 per cent. of the petroleum produced in this country is being utilized, that kerosene burning engines, while a great help in conservation, will not solve the difficulty, and that much higher prices for gasoline are ahead unless the crude oil burning engine comes to the rescue.

NEW CLOCK STRIKES SIX AT 3 P. M. AND WORRIES NEW YORK CITIZENS

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Downtown New Yorkers are wearing worried expressions on their watch-dials these days, and the ancient and dignified old clock in City Hall cupola actually looks savage.

It's all on account of the coming of a strange upstart in the world of tower clocks. The newest clock is mounted in the tower of Pier A, at the Battery, and it fairly roars the time of day to the whole lower part of Manhattan Island, and to all the ships in the upper harbor. That would be all right, but it strikes twice at 1 o'clock, six times at 3 o'clock, and from 4 p. m. on it gets worse.

This new clock talks the sailor's language. It is said to be the first of its kind on land. It faces the harbor, and was erected for the town by Daniel G. Reid, as a memorial to the sailors who died in the war. It strikes ship time, which most landlubbers know is indicated by "bells" on shipboard.

The 12 hours are divided into three watches, beginning at noon and midnight. Thus, 12:30 a. m. is one bell, 2 is two bells, 2:30 is three bells, and so on until eight bells is reached, at 4 a. m., is one bell again, 5 is two bells, 5:30 is three bells, and so on till 8 a. m., when the ship's clock for once is right with the land clock, striking eight times. Then at 8:30 it is one bell again, at 9 it is two bells, and so on through the third watch, until it is again eight bells at noon, and the whole round starts over again.

The new clock at the Battery strikes on a bell weighing half a ton, and fairly drowns out some of the more conservative landlubber clocks in that part of town. While the sailors are said to enjoy the luxury, landmen in lower Manhattan and the dignified clock in City Hall cupola are not enthusiastic about the new venture in time-telling.

The friends of Dick Hood, who was officially reported as missing since October 1st, are rejoicing over the fact that another official notice reached the family a short time ago, saying that he had again reported for duty December 24th. No particulars were given, but it is supposed that he was either wounded or a prisoner during that time.
